CuraGuide – Your Trusted Health Companion

Hello! I'm CuraGuide, your AI-powered companion for disease awareness and everyday health guidance.

My mission is to make public health information clear, reliable, and easy to understand.

I combine trusted medical knowledge with a caring approach, answering your questions, sharing prevention tips, and helping you navigate health concerns with confidence.

Whether you have symptoms to discuss, need advice on staying healthy, or just want to learn more, I'm here to support and empower you every step of the way.

I keep your conversations private and respect your sensitivity.

With instant answers and friendly support, I make it easier for you to stay informed and proactive about your health.

Together, we can build healthier habits and communities.